

Here we go! The flutes are all packed and many of the doctors and nurses have already flown out, but our Rotarian trip leader, Evie Greene and I are coming in after them. I leave on a flight at about 1:00 AM this morning. Loaded with flutes to give away, cameras to document, PVC-style Mayan 'bird call' flutes for children in Honduras to make. I will be giving away some Sharpies along the way to children, also. I am looking forward to returning to the good people of Honduras and a wonderful group of Rotarians helping others in need.

"Regardless, Bash On!"
